Nerd Alert – A New Way to Keep it Together

HAMILTON, Oct. 1, 2019 – Collector’s rejoice! Gatekeeper’s Guard is here to help you house your comics in a clean, sleek, and dynamic way. Hamilton locals Mike Martinho and Rebecca Flynn took a bedroom operation and turned it into a binder that keeps your comics safe, organized, and together.

“Collectors understand collectors,” says Martinho, co-owner of the company. “Comics are for everyone, and we want to give everyone an easy to house their collections without leaving comics open in singles. Collectors care about preservation, and we want to give them the tools to achieve that.”

Martinho’s right-hand woman and co-owner Rebecca Flynn attests to the need for a product like this. “In the eyes of collectors, comics, cards, magazines – they’re all something special. The welcome we’ve received from the community has been overwhelming. When we started with the idea, people were receptive, but now that it’s tangible – we’re ready to keep growing.”

Gatekeeper’s Guard is a company dedicated to the easy way to house comic, card, graphic novel, and magazine collections. Every binder contains 15-20 acid-free, reinforced comic bags to keep your collection protected and organized.
